Party Leaders Eye Primary In N. Hampshire

Election Brings First Actual Indication Of Voter Sentiment

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—The farflung, intricate mechanics of choosing a president of the United States reached the ballot box stage today when New Hampshire voters went to the polls in the nation's first presidential primary of 1960.

Voting places generally open at 7 a.m. and in the cities close as late as 8 p.m.

A surprise snowfall ranging from one to three inches blanketed most of the state during the early morning hours. However, town meetings and an angry last minute clash brought estimates of a total vote of more than 100,000.

That is only a handful by comparison with the millions of ballots still to be cast in forthcoming primaries. But politically, New Hampshire is a midget with a heavyweight punch.

Today's election brings the first actual indication of voter sentiment into the presidential outlook, as distinct from polls, straw votes, and the calculated optimism of politicians.

Indirectly, it pitted Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon against Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Both stressed the importance of the New Hampshire primary on voters all over the nation—precisely because it is the first.

Nixon, in an election eve radio broadcast, said the primary "had tremendous impact on the nominees of both parties in 1952 and in my case in 1956." Kennedy, in a similar broadcast, said the primary "will powerfully affect the nominating convention in Los Angeles in July."

The 11th hour flurry of angry charges and sizzling retorts put some political paprika into what has been a largely flavorless campaign. It involved Nixon, Kennedy and New Hampshire's Gov. Wesley Powell. Powell is chairman of the Nixon for President Committee in New Hampshire.

Powell set the sparks flying by asserting that Kennedy was "soft toward communism." Kennedy called that a smear and said he believed Nixon would repudiate Powell.

Nixon's news representative, Herbert Klein, issued a statement which said, in part: "While they (Nixon and Kennedy) have differences on some issues, they have always been in complete agreement in their unalterable opposition to communism at home and abroad."

There are five potential significances in the balloting today. They are:

1. The total votes cast for Nixon and Kennedy in their respective primaries—with the 1956 primary as a yardstick.

E. Palestine May Improve Sewage Plant

EAST PALESTINE—City Council passed an emergency ordinance Monday night authorizing Director George McGuckin to enter into contract with Floyd G. Browne and Associates of Marion for a comprehensive survey of the city's 23-year-old sewage disposal plant.

The survey, which will cost $2,750, will serve as a guide for anticipated improvements and enlargements at the plant. It is expected that from four to six months will be needed to complete the survey.

Council voiced general agreement that a need exists for a similar survey of the municipal light plant. Although no formal action has been taken, Council has had four engineering firms submit bids for that work.

The cost estimates have ranged from $5,000 to $6,000. This would provide a survey of the plant itself, the distribution system and the rate structure.

Council is faced with the immediate problem of purchasing a new boiler and auxiliary pumping equipment at an estimated cost of $200,000.

The last major project at the plant was a $350,000 turbine installation. Final payment on that project will be made April 1. There is $162,000 in the light plant fund at the present time.

No action was taken last night on a request made last week by city employees for wage increases. The finance committee reported that a study of the request has not been completed.

Carve Series of KKKs Into Chest

4 White Youths Beat, Hang Negro by Heels

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Four masked white youths hung a Negro man from a tree by his heels Monday night and scratched two series of KKKs into his chest and stomach after beating him with chains, the Negro told police.

Felton Turner, 27, said he freed himself from ropes around his ankles and wrists staggered to a nightwatchman's shack and telephoned police.

A doctor at Jefferson Davis Hospital said Turner was treated and released this morning. The six Ks ranged from 1 inches to 3 inches in length and went from Turner's chest to his stomach, the doctor said. Rope marks were on the Negro's wrists and ankles.

Police said Turner told them he was walking near his home in a Negro residential area at 10:15 p.m. when two masked white youths leaped from a car and grabbed him. They carried guns and forced him into the back seat of a sedan.

Two other masked white youths were in the front seat, Turner told officers.

Turner said he struggled to free himself but the youths gagged him and beat him to the floor with chains.

They took him to a wooded area where he was tied and hung from the tree by his heels, he said. There they beat him with chains and rope, cut off his jacket and shirt and scratched the Ks on his stomach and chest with a knife.

As the white youths were leaving one of them told Turner that if he tried to escape one of them would kill him, the Negro said.

Turner worked the ropes off his feet and hands and made his way to a nearby nightwatchman's shack.

Police Lt. Breckenridge Porter said Turner's wounds could not have been self-inflicted.

Turner, unemployed, told police that a red-haired youth in the front of the car told him they were hired to do a job because of publicity Texas Southern University Negro students received over sit-ins at a lunch counter at Houston in the past few days.

Paar Returns, Has Censor Trouble Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Paar made a triumphant return to his NBC television show Monday night. Within an hour the tart-tongued comedian had talked himself into censorship again.

On Feb. 11, Paar walked off the show after the network had cut almost five minutes out of a taped broadcast without notifying him. The matter eliminated was a joke which NBC said was in bad taste. Shortly thereafter, Paar and NBC officials made peace.

Two network vice presidents were on hand Monday night and conferred with Paar immediately after the show was taped. An hour later, the network announced Paar had "agreed to the omission of a brief personal reference."

When the tape was broadcast, it was evident shortly after midnight that the brief personal reference was a 10-word reference to columnist Walter Winchell made during a vitriolic attack on the press, and the Hearst newspapers in particular.

Hundreds of Paar fans turned up at NBC to welcome back their hero.

Some wore "Welcome Back Jack" buttons and carried placards. Paar himself seemed touched and pleased, and explained his walkout as a "tantrum" and "childish."

"But I will still raise more hell in TV than almost anybody else in it," he promised—and he soon was doing exactly that.

Senate Test Vote on Rights Issue Expected

Sen. Johnson, GOP Convinced Oratory Can't Be Halted Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders today maneuvered cautiously toward the first show of hands—and possibly of strength—in their unabating struggle over civil rights.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Democratic floor leader, said he was appraising the controversy hour by hour. As debate entered the second day of the second week of its grind around the clock, Johnson expressed hope for some vote to clear the air.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), principal Dixie strategist, made it clear civil rights advocates would have to force the issue.

As introduced the measure would provide penalties up to $10,000 fine or two years in jail or both for violations. Ervin purposes to cut these limits to a $1,000 fine or one year in jail or both.

Whatever sentiment the vote showed, the Southerners would be free to resume their extended debate after it was taken.

Russell said he understood Northern senators of both parties were considering a similar motion on a different proposal. This one would empower the attorney general to initiate court action in any alleged violation of an individual's civil rights.

Sees No Sign of Break

Seeing no sign of a break, Russell added: "I don't know when they plan it—this week or next."

How much bearing a vote on either question would have on the final showdown was open to dispute.

Republicans, encouraged by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, sampled opinion Monday among their own senators on stopping the oratory. They found it couldn't be done at present, Johnson is similarly convinced. He appears to want voting rights legislation passed without choking off debate.

Two-thirds of the senators voting would have to support a cloture motion to make it effective. A maximum of 50 could be obtained now, according to reports on an informal canvass. Sixty-seven would be needed if all senators voted.

Eight Killed As Train Rams Station Wagon

BERLIN, Conn. (AP)—Eight persons were killed today when a passenger train collided with a station wagon.

The train hurled the station wagon, loaded with seven children and a woman, into a five-foot-deep lake beside the unprotected grade crossing on quiet Norton Lane.

Police reports first said three persons were dead and five unaccounted for. A few minutes later the New Haven Railroad reported that eight persons had been killed, all occupants of the automobile.

Apparently the children were being driven to school when the Youth, 17, Admits Seventh Murder

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Seventeen-year-old Dennis Whitney has admitted his seventh slaying in his coast-to-coast murder spree.

The red-haired boy said Monday he killed two men in Phoenix, Ariz. Previously he had confessed to one.

Detective Warren D. Holmes, a lie detector expert, said "there may be more killings. This boy won't admit anything until confronted with the evidence."

Sheriff John Kirk said Whitney told him he fired a .22 slug into the brain of a "Phoenix bum" in an abandoned bus in a parking lot. Phoenix police said the victim was Ira Lee Hardison, 55, a skid row character.

Apparently he was killed Feb. 21, the same day Whitney killed another Phoenix man, Spencer Frazier, 40, Negro, and stole his car.

Whitney, who shot a Hialeah housewife to death last Friday, earlier had killed two Dade (Miami) County gas station attendants and wounded a third in holdups, police said.

The day after his capture he admitted a slaying in Victorville, Calif., the killing of Frazier, and a slaying in Tucson, Ariz. The string of murders started Feb. 12.

Other union officers installed were: Vice president, Robert Myers; Leetonia; secretary-treasurer, Robert Dunbar of Columbiana and recording secretary, Robert McCreary of Rogers.

The new officers were given the oath by the outgoing president, Howard Stouffer of Leetonia.

Members of the Local will elect shop stewards at the next meeting, the date to be announced.

DENNIS WHITNEY

In Los Angeles, the boy's father, Ralph Whitney, described Dennis as a quiet boy whose main interest was art.

Herter Terms Castro Charges 'Irresponsible'

WASHINGTON (AP)—In blunt language rarely heard in the polite world of diplomacy, the United States has accused Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro of "extremely provocative" and "irresponsible" charges against this country.

The angry protest was in answer to Castro's accusation Saturday that U.S. officials may have been responsible for the death dealing explosion of a European munitions shipment March 4 in Havana harbor.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter called this "baseless, erroneous and misleading."

Herter delivered the dressing down personally to the Cuban charge d'affaires, Enrique Patterson, and immediately made the text of his remarks available to newsmen.

The Cuban, clearly upset by the 20-minute session in Herter's office, left the State Department hurriedly. He said he would report Herter's statement to Castro without comment.

Herter wound up his statement by saying: "This government finds itself increasingly obliged to question the good faith of your excellency's government with respect to a desire for improved relations between our governments."

In Havana, Cuban TV commentators read Herter's remarks on the air in mocking tones, smiling at certain passages and then adding the editorial comment that the United States is an aggressor.

One source of friction was removed when Cuban police released Donald Chapman, 26, an American photographer who had taken passage on the French freighter that blew up. Chapman had been questioned for days, but was released Monday.

But he was removed from a Miami-bound plane and taken into custody a second time before being permitted to fly to Miami.

Cold Weather Persists In Nation's East

By The Associated Press

Cold weather persisted across wide areas in the eastern half of the nation today but some warmer air appeared on the way.

Temperatures moderated in some areas east of the Rockies but generally unseasonable cold was the rule in most areas into the Southeast. Slowly rising temperatures were indicated for most of the central part of the country from the Gulf northward to the border.

It was below zero again this morning in parts of Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Illinois and Indiana. The mercury slipped far below seasonal levels in Kentucky, dropping to 9 above in Louisville. It was 26 above in Atlanta. Below zero readings were reported in a few higher elevations in Pennsylvania. Early morning low marks included 13 in Pellston, Mich., and Grantsburg, Wis.

Most of the East was chilly and snow flurries continued in the Northeast. Readings were mostly in the 20s and 30s.

The 40s and 50s prevailed across southern areas outside the cold belt in the Southeast and along the Pacific Coast. The Southwest had mild temperatures in the 60s and 70s.

Wet weather dampened wide areas in the West.

Consultant Helps Students To Be Better News Readers

Miss Mary Waddle, consultant from Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., is meeting with pupils and teachers at Salem Public Schools this week to demonstrate techniques in the teaching of news reading.

She taught kindergarten and first grade classes at Reilly School Monday morning, and second grade class at McKinley School Monday afternoon.

Her schedule for the remainder of the week includes: This morning, third grade at Buckeye School; this afternoon, fourth grade at Fourth Street School; Wednesday morning, fifth grade, Prospect School; Wednesday afternoon, sixth grade, Buckeye School; Thursday morning, seventh grade social studies; Thursday afternoon, eighth and ninth grade English.

A total of 275 students will take part in the demonstrations.

The lesson is taught in three steps. Like newspaper reporters, the pupils first "explore the lead." During this important step of the lesson Miss Waddle uses the headline, the pictures and maps, vocabulary pertinent to the news article, and motivating questions to arouse interest and prepare the pupils for reading the story.

With this readiness background of information established, Miss Waddle then moves to the second step of the lesson. She shows the pupils how to "get the facts," and read for meaning. While she worked directly with one group of pupils, another group read silently and answered the study guide questions which had been raised in the first part of the lesson.

After the news story was "covered," the class again worked as a single group to "analyze the news." In this third step, Miss Waddle guided and encouraged the pupils to do their own critical thinking based on facts from the news story.

This method, she pointed out, gives pupils an opportunity to see how current news relates to past events and helps them to anticipate possible future developments. They are led to relate the news story to themselves, their families, community, and their everyday lives.

Suggestions are given for additional reading and follow-up work which the pupils may carry on in subsequent lessons.

A conference with the teachers who observed the demonstration follows the lesson. Miss Waddle emphasizes the importance of news reading in the total reading program. The relationship of news reading to other subjects in the curriculum is brought out in the discussion.

Liquor Store to Place Receipts In Bank

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Liquor Department has drafted orders for managers of State Stores to place receipts in bank depositories on Saturday nights.

Liquor Director Richard C. Crouch said the action was planned because of a rash of safe robberies in state stores following a shift from a burglar alarm protection system to insurance last summer.

The latest incident occurred in Canton over the weekend. Burglars stole a safe containing about $5,000 from the store there. Police said the burglars apparently rolled the safe on a dolly to a waiting truck.

About three weeks ago, a safe was stolen from the Warren store in a second robbery there. That store's safe also was stolen last December. The same store was held up during working hours and robbed of about $200. A safe also was stolen from a Youngstown store last December.

Although the state's insurance policy owners covers losses from robberies, officials expressed concern let numerous holdups and burglaries boost rates.

Negroes Claim Victory In South

Anti-Segregation Drive In 6th Week

By The Associated Press

Negro demonstrators claimed a victory in North Carolina today as the growing anti-segregation campaign entered its sixth week and spread into the eighth Southern state.

Students in two North Carolina cities seeking equal eating facilities at traditionally segregated lunch counters were served while seated Monday. Apparently it was the first time this had happened in the state where the current wave of sit-downs started.

The first demonstration in West Virginia took a new form. Students paraded at a motion picture theater protesting segregated seating arrangements.

In Houston, Tex., the sit-downs spread from drug stores to a supermarket lunch counter. Service was refused and the counter area roped off. No trouble was reported.

Eleven Negroes were arrested for trespassing in Petersburg, Va., after they occupied a section reserved for white persons in the city library and refused to leave.

At Winston-Salem, N. C., 75 placard-carrying students staged a two-hour demonstration climaxed by singing and a brief prayer service in front of City Hall. Police warned a repetition would result in arrests on charges of staging a parade without a permit.

After the demonstration some of the participants were served hot dogs and soft drinks while sitting in a combination hardware and variety store.

Later, however, a store spokesman announced plans to remove the soda fountain stools. He said in the future white persons and Negroes would be served only while standing.

At Salisbury, N.C., six Negro students from Livingstone College were served in pairs at three downtown drug store lunch counters. There were no incidents. Four other students were refused service in two other drug stores.

The anti-segregation demonstrations began at Greensboro, N.C., Feb. 1. Since then they have spread to South Carolina, Alabama, Florida, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia. Sympathy demonstrations have occurred in a number of northern localities.

Warren Files Answer on Charter Writ

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Counsel for Warren city officials has filed an answer to an Ohio Supreme Court action seeking to force a vote on a proposed city charter at a special election April 12.

The answer to an alternative writ of mandamus asked Walter D. Graham, Warren taxpayer, to make more definite and certain his petition demanding a vote on the proposal. In the absence of such action by Graham, counsel asked the high court to dismiss his petition.

Graham brought his mandamus action against Mayor Walter Pestrak, Service-Safety Director B. J. Bohl and members of Warren City Council.

He asked the court to order emergency passage of the charter proposal by City Council, which previously turned it down, and to order the mayor to rescind his veto of measures for $5,000 in expenses for a charter commission and for Bohl to advertise for bids on printed copies of the proposal. "The entire petition does not contain any allegations setting forth a duty which the respondents are required to perform and which relator has a right to compel them to perform," said attorney Charles T. Kapps of Columbus, counsel for the Warren officials.

Doctor Uses Sun As Crystal Ball In Forecasting 7 Years of Weather

By JERRY BENNETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — A seven year month-by-month forecast of the rainfall in 31 cities will soon be published by Dr. Charles G. Abbot, world famed solar physicist of the Smithsonian Institution.

The 87-year-old scientist says he won't be surprised if space-age meteorologists scoff at his forecast. "I have been writing papers about my system for 20 years, and they aren't convinced yet," he says. "Reason is that they haven't got any theory for it."

Dr. Abbot, however, has no doubts about its reliability. Several years ago he forecast the weather for St. Louis during 1952-57. His predictions turned out to be 70 per cent accurate. An earlier forecast he made for 10 Tennessee Valley Authority weather stations was off by only 14 per cent.

Key to Dr. Abbot's crystal ball is the sun. A recognized expert on the celestial hot spot, he found that amounts of solar energy vary each day. These changes occur for 273 months and then repeat themselves.

HE ALSO FOUND that changes in the weather accompany each energy variation and follow the same 23-year cycle. Thus, theoretically, all you would have to do to predict the weather for Easter would be to find out what it was like 273 months ago.

New Hope For Mental Care

The state's plan to move some 3,500 aged patients from mental hospitals to nursing homes is one of the most exciting developments in a depressing problem that has come along in years.

For one thing, it offers some promise that efforts to take up the slack between supply and demand for mental hospital facilities are not as hopeless as the public has been led to believe. The transfer spotlights the fact that one reason for the lag has been the presence in mental institutions of a large number of people who did not belong there.

FOR ANOTHER thing, it offers some promise that efforts to provide proper treatment for patients with true mental illnesses is not hopeless, either. By removing those patients whose disabilities require custodial care rather than treatment, the staffs and facilities of the state hospitals can be applied more effectively to the rehabilitation of persons who may thus recapture lost hopes of a return to normal society.

For still another, it offers some promise that efforts to meet the costs of mental care may not be hopeless. Custodial care is less expensive than treatment, and can be even cheaper in a nursing home especially designed for custodial care than in a mental hospital designed essentially for treatment.

It is true that part of the gimmick in the new plan is to shift 50 per cent of the cost for senile patients to the federal government by putting them on the aid-to-the-aged rolls, but the total cost still will be considerably below the present total.

All in all, the basic idea is so simple it is a wonder it is just now being tried.

There are potential hazards in the plan that will have to be watched for. One is the quality of the nursing homes into which the aged patients are moved. The difficulty of finding suitable places has apparently been one of the delays in putting the program into operation.

THIS PROBLEM may be solved by the new laws governing nursing homes which the Legislature passed last year. If the Department of Health is successful in carrying out the assembly's intent, any nursing home in the state should be a reliable agent for the program.

If it works out that way, the transfer plan will have the added advantage of improving the humanitarian approach to the patients involved. They will be getting a better brand of custodial care than has been possible in the giant mental hospitals with personalities split between a variety of responsibilities.

The promise of the program, then, is that it can be a tremendous shot in the arm for everyone involved in Ohio's mental health problem—the state, the patients, the taxpayers and the citizens whose loved ones are in the public's care.

Perhaps the Saints Could Do It

The chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, John C. Doerfer, has been insisting to congressional investigators that his conscience is clear concerning hospitality he accepted from a fellow citizen with television connections.

Here is the same issue that arose in the investigation of Sherman Adams, whose conscience was clear and whose honesty never was questioned even by his critics. Yet in the curious code of morality that is enforced on high federal offices by political snipers, there is no value in conscience or honesty.

The only value lies in ability so to live that no sniper ever can draw a publicity bead that would give him a clean shot at his target.

The ideal person to fill these offices never would have known anyone before he accepted the appointment and would avoid knowing anyone while filling it.

He would have no family, no friends and no near acquaintances. He would show no hospitality to anyone and would accept no hospitality. He would own nothing and have no prospects of ever earning a livelihood.

Necessity Still Mother of Invention

An account of a solution for the transportation problem in San Francisco in The Wall Street Journal suggests that private ingenuity is a better bet than the grandiose proposals of experts.

The San Franciscans involved are commuters who had been spending an hour and a half a day and more to get to their jobs and an equal time to get home. Public transportation was theoretically feasible, but in practice it was unsatisfactory. But lines in some cases were so far away the commuters had to drive or be driven to and from bus stops. And the price was high.

Deserved Recognition

The Veterans of Foreign Wars Post and Auxiliary made two good selections when it chose Mrs. Darrel Fadely and John Herman, Jr., for community service recognition at the VFW's anniversary banquet Saturday.

Mrs. Fadely has been a tireless worker on behalf of multiple sclerosis victims, dispensing cheer to the victims as only she can, and Mr. Herman has been the motivating factor behind the Hot Stove (Little League) baseball program for Salem boys year after year. The merit citations are well-deserved.

Once Over

Bob Moses, who wears more hats than Hedda Hopper, will run the New York World's Fair. This guarantees the show will be as exciting during the preliminaries as after the opening.

The publicity problem is solved. Get citizens to write letters of criticism and Bob's replies will make the headlines. In picking Moses the World's Fair is getting atomic energy, fast takeoff, packaged vitality and a three-year supply of fireworks.

He is a combination of Samson, Billy Rose, Jules Verne, Grover Whalen, Haroun-al-Rashid, Henry Kaiser, King Canute, Conrad Hilton and the fellow who built the Hanging Gardens of Babylon. But unless he is allowed $5,000 a year for tranquilizers he will become a hotter World's Fair attraction than the other exhibits. He can make Disneyland run second to Moses Land.

Robert is a wonder and could deserve a billing as "The Phenomenal Go-Go Man," "Bobbie, the Sleepless Wonder," or "The World's Greatest Job-Defying Man; Part Human, Part Work Elephant, Part Engine and Part Magician."

Moses thinks he is a victim of unemployment any time he is not taking on three or four jobs at once.

Symbol of the last World's Fair was Trylon and Perisphere. Symbol of this one could be Fountain Pen and Finger of Scorn. Mr. Moses is the world's best answer to "They said it couldn't be done." He will get $100,000 a year.

By H. I. Phillips

Fen Pen and Finger of Scorn. Mr. Moses is the world's best answer to "They said it couldn't be done." He will get $100,000 a year at an age when ordinary mortals are wondering what to do for a hobby. And he is worth it. Our bet is that with his color, gusto and dynamism the World's Fair will get that much money back in publicity before he has been on the job three months.

He is one of the few men people like to see blow his stack. Half-aroused he can be a bigger attraction than most men 100 per cent angry. Let's have among fair buildings a Palace of Fiery Phrases, a Temple of Outer Space Adjectives and a huge building known as the "Dear Sir, You Cur, Auditorium." Fun is fun and it's a major asset to any World's Fair.

FROM PHOTOS of Gromyko trying to dance with those Balinese gals it would seem Russia will lose anything it might have gained in Indonesia. And Khrushchev with a flower over his ear indicates Russia is not too certain of itself.

"If you had been wading in a trout stream two hours you'd look tired," said Mr. Hagerty in replying to questions about Ike's appearance. This shows Mr. Hagerty is no fisherman. Wading in a trout stream, unless it's in a raging current, is the most leisurely of activities and is recommended by doctors. One round of golf can tucker a man out more than a week in a brook.

The Late, Late Show

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Federal agents are tired of playing tag with Jimmy Hoffa and the "boys." Hoffa's so good at games, the government would like to try him at monopoly.

Victor Riesel

These investigating units are sitting in New York, Detroit and Omaha. They are quite different from the four other grand juries operating under the Justice Department's Criminal Division. This makes a total of seven including one little observed jury which is looking into the hundreds of telephone calls and other records of Hoffa's activity at Washington's Hotel Woodner.

Most of the documents have been destroyed and the Justice Department wants to know who got rid of them and why and at whose order.

The Woodner has been Hoffa's castle away from home — a hotel suite with a fully equipped and publicized kitchen in which the short order, and frequently short tempered cook has whipped up many a breakfast with his own hands for his gourmet friends.

HOFFA IS NOT overly concerned by the criminal grand juries. He has beaten them so often. What disturbs him more are the three anti-trust probes. It is little known but Hoffa was once convicted of anti-trust violation in the waste handlers' field. That was in 1941. It cost him $1,000 fine.

Anti-trust laws can be more potent than the criminal code. Conviction under the monopoly and anti-trust statutes can result in heavy fines up to $50,000 on each count and or a year in jail on each point. Conviction can also mean actual dissolution of a union local and a ruling from the bench that its officials may not remain in the field of labor.

But Jimmy Hoffa is a daring young man almost literally on a flying trapeze. He has flown several hundred thousand miles in everthing from a single-pilot, single-motored job to the big jets since September 1957, in pursuit of his one big dream — a national union of everthing that flies, moves on wheels or sails the seas.

Hoffa believes in the personal touch and handshakes and thus has become the most traveled union chief in history.

We crossed each other's path in Iowa the other week. There he announced that he had moved into the railroads. He spoke mysteriously of his support among those transport workers.

Part of this optimism, it can be reported, is based on his efforts to infiltrate the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. This union recently finished its three-million-dollar marathon convention in Cleveland's Music Hall.

DURING THAT SERIES of sessions, which ran from Jan. 4 to Feb. 18, Hoffa had his own representatives working out of hotel suites near the convention hall.

Hoffa's most important contact man was a Teamsters leader from Nebraska. This official set up unofficial — and what he thought was secret — headquarters in the Hotel Auditorium. This is just across from the meeting hall.

The Nebraska Teamster was there for more than a week. To his suite after each day's session and during the lunch hour, came some Railroad Trainmen delegates.

How successful Hoffa's agent was only he and Hoffa know. The Rail Brotherhood's president, William Parker Kennedy, wanted nothing to do with Hoffa. Two years ago Kennedy had rejected the Teamsters bid to join a Conference on Transportation Unity.

However, Hoffa continues his drive for support for the conference. If ever the bold Teamster chief could build such unity, he could make good his plans for all transport contracts to expire on a common date on land, on sea and in the air.

The government is watching this closely. It wants to move in long before anyone has the power to name the day the nation should stand still.

Dem's Selection

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Sen. Kennedy Appears Well In Front

Lots of people think the Democratic national convention will start in July — but actually it's going on now. The lining-up of delegations is invisible to the naked eye as leader after leader makes promises that on such and such a ballot he will transfer his support to a nother candidate.

TODAY, ON David Lawrence the basis of precedent, it looks like Sen. John Kennedy is well on the way to getting the nomination. His strength is, of course, often discounted, mostly by those who favor other candidates.

The situation very much resembles the contest for the Republican nomination that Herber Hoover won in 1928.

Almost everybody at the time thought that Mr. Hoover had substantial strength but the professionals in the political ranks didn't think he could get anything like a majority of the delegates.

In fact, leaders of the big organizations in the East who had dominated the 1920 and 1924 Republican conventions made their plans on the theory that someone who hadn't been as prominent in the public eye as Mr. Hoover could easily take the prize at the 1928 convention.

But the day the conclave opened at Kansas City the professionals got a shock. They learned that the Hoover forces really had lined up a majority of delegates and it took only a single ballot to assure selection of a man who had never before held elective office.

His service, however, as secretary of commerce for eight years under Republican administrations and for two years as food administrator under a Democratic administration had made him widely known.

TODAY SEN. KENNEDY appears to have more behind — the scenes strength in politics than he is generally credited with having by his opponents.

They concede he will get perhaps 500 delegates, but will fall short of the 761 needed for a majority.

So there is, as usual, talk of a "compromise" candidate. This time the two names most frequently mentioned for the "compromise" are Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri and former Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois. The assumption is that either might be chosen if a deadlock ensues.

But who is to bring about the "deadlock"?

While Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas together have substantial strength, it is difficult at this writing to see how the combination of these two candidates can be enough to roll up the 761 votes needed to keep the nomination away from the Massachusetts senator.

That's why talk of "compromise" candidates seems a little premature. Indeed, in recent weeks there has been a tendency in some quarters to write off Adlai Stevenson altogether and some of his admirers have begun to get behind other candidates.

This doesn't mean, however, that they wouldn't return to Stevenson if there's a deadlock.

Actually those who would like to see Stevenson nominated would prefer at this stage of the game to have all the first-choice votes allocated publicly to other candidates so that, if a deadlock occurs, there will be freedom from entanglements and a readiness on the part of the minority blocs to swing to the man who was the nominee of the party in 1952 and 1956.

IT TAKES LOTS of money and lots of organization strength to win any presidential nomination unless a real deadlock ensues, when a "compromise" candidate can cash in on the work already done by the other candidates.

As this writer looks back on the 12 presidential campaigns he has covered, it can be observed that, while in some instances where a president is up for re-election there is little pre-convention activity.

Most of the time the candidate who wins the nomination is one whose friends have spent the money or taken the time to line up delegates in the pre-convention campaign.

Right now, therefore — in the next 4½ months — it may be said that the 1960 presidential contest on the Democratic side is being decided.

At the moment Sen. Kennedy is way ahead. He has the organization, the strategy, the financing and the backing of a substantial number of professional politicians.

The question now is not so much whether he will win but how is he going to be blocked — if, indeed, it isn't too late for anyone to accomplish that purpose.

Should the "Stop Kennedy" movement be successful and the delegates turn toward a "compromise," the best bet still is Adlai Stevenson.

While it is being said that he was beaten twice, it is also being emphasized that he would run against Nixon this time — not against Eisenhower.

THOUGH LOSING in 1952, Stevenson got more votes than any successful Democratic candidate in history except one and more than any Republican winner up to that time. He is truly the second choice today of many of the professional politicians who worked with him in two campaigns. He, therefore, has a head start on Sen. Symington.

The Missouri senator doesn't have the organization strength that Stevenson has and isn't as well known at the "grass roots" level among the local politicians as is the man who has twice campaigned actively in most of the states of the Union.

To sum up, this writer believes that Sen. Kennedy is well out in front today and is likely to win the nomination and that, if the Massachusetts senator is blocked, the "compromise" candidate will be Adlai Stevenson.

The Right Gimmick

By TRUMAN TWILL

All of us have heard so much about "public images" that we're beginning to talk like the advertising geniuses who invented the phrase.

A "public image" is what people think you are. Or it's the "image" of a company or corporation, it's what people have been taught to think of when they hear the name.

The big telephone company is "The Voice With a Smile."

And John R. Rockefeller — the original — was an old gentleman who gave dimes to kiddies. That was the beginning of it all — changing the public image of the original Rockefeller from money monster to philanthropist. A genius called Ivy Lee — I've Ledbetter Lee — turned the trick.

He proved anything is possible if you have the right gimmick. The secret is to set up an association in the public mind between the client and something pleasant. That's why an entertainer who can't afford a first-class job calls herself "Candy," a name that suggests fun and frolic.

It's why employees of big outfits address the clients as "Sir" and "Madam" — to make them feel as if they mattered in a world that otherwise makes them feel like dirt.

It's why all of us, beginning in adolescence grow concerned about the public image we, personally, are creating. That's when we start to peer at ourselves in the mirror. It's when boys tell their girl friends how much less than perfect they — the Boys — are and how hard they're working to improve themselves. It's when girls live from minute to minute on evidence of approval by their boy friends.

Later on, the focus shifts and both sexes become concerned about the impression they are making on other members of the same sex. The junior executive wants to be invited to join the exclusive club. The factory worker wants to be well thought of by the other members of his bowling team. The woman tries to impress other women. This is basic in human nature, but so is everything else about public images. Almost no one is free of concern about the kind of impression he is making. The only difference between professional actors and the rest of us is that the actor knows how to create an image out of his own skill, while the rest of us would have to hire an image-maker to do the job for us.

And the purpose of bringing up the subject here is to suggest to each reader that this is as good a time as any to give thought to the public image of himself or herself, personally.

What does the mirror show? What does the mirror show? How do you look to the fellow who lives down the street?

What kind of a public image do you present to the people you live with? Are you really 10 feet tall and made of pure gold?

When the boss looks your way, what does he see?

Your fellow workers — how have they sized you up?

March can be a long, dull month while you wait for spring. You, too, can be in the public image business. If Ivey Lee could transform the original Rockefeller from a Wall Street ogre into a Main Street philanthropist, imagine what you might do for yourself if you had the right gimmick!

horse book was reported active.

Liquor agents reporting on gambling activities are able to take action only if the places hold liquor licenses, Smith explained. He said the 16 places listed in the mailed report did not hold liquor permits.

Smith said Schell expressed a desire to prosecute violators but asserted he would need testimony from liquor agents for convictions. The liquor enforcement chief said that posed a problem for his small force.

"If the agents appear in court there, we can count on having all of those connected with gambling in the area as spectators to learn their identity," Smith observed.

The Niles police chief made his appeal for more help by telephone. Smith reported. Smith did not say what he planned to do.

A similar request came from the police chief in Lima where three horse betting places were listed. The chief complained that newspaper publicity in advance of any action he could take made investigation difficult.

Warren was not on the list, the enforcement chief said.

He explained that the list was not intended to be complete and that some information had been withheld. He did not elaborate.

"We feel that this type of activity is shifting in nature and all officials should be apprised generally," Smith said. "The lists are only informative in nature and do not request action," he added.

In announcing the mailing, DiSalle said the gambling lists were confidential but expressed belief that such widespread distribution would produce "leaks" and stir up official action.

Ike Drafts Report On S. American Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Back at the White House from an exhausting tour of South America, President Eisenhower toiled today over a report to the people on what he saw and learned.

All major radio and television networks arranged to broadcast the 15-minute report tonight at 7 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

Eisenhower gave quick attention, too, to a prime problem here at home—the Senate filibuster over civil rights and the legislative logjam piling up. Republican congressional leaders were called to the White House to talk over maneuvers and prospects.

Because of his speech tonight and other matters, Eisenhower is not planning to hold a news conference this week.

Eisenhower's 15,500-mile swing around Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Uruguay ended Monday with his mid-afternoon arrival at nearby Andrews Air Force Base. There were stops going and coming in Puerto Rico.

Ohio Restaurant Reopens Doors—To Everybody

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — Geyer's Restaurant here will open today "to everyone" — Negroes and whites alike. It had been closed for three days rather than serve Negro college students.

The students had been milling around the front of the restaurant ever since about 30 were refused service Saturday. By Sunday their number had increased to about 100—including 15 white students—and Monday some 15 showed up carrying placards.

George D. Geyer, restaurant owner, changed his mind Monday night and announced that the establishment will open today "to everyone."

A representative of the National Food Service Assn., representing Geyer, arrived here from Columbus and conferred with leaders of the picketing students. The representative, Robert W. Williams, worked out arrangements for re-opening the restaurant.

The action followed the sending of an investigator from the Ohio Civil Rights Commission to Xenia to get first-hand information about the demonstration. The commission acted even though no formal complaint had been filed under an anti-discrimination law which has been in effect only a few months.

The student demonstrators came mainly from Wilberforce University and Central State College, two predominantly Negro institutions at nearby Wilberforce, Ohio.

They had vowed to continue the demonstration until Geyer allowed Negroes to be served at the restaurant.

exceed President Eisenhower's performance. The total cast for Eisenhower four years ago was 56,464. Kennedy declined to estimate his vote. Some of his lieutenants, however, predicted that he would roll up more than 30,000 votes. Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) received 21,701 in 1956.

Many Demonstrate Popularity
2. The ratio of the totals rolled up by Nixon and Kennedy may demonstrate their respective voting popularity. Republicans normally outnumber Democrats by 2-1 or more in New Hampshire elections.

3. Delegates are running favorably to New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller on the Republican ballot and to Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) in the Democratic contest. Rockefeller did not enter the GOP race. Symington has not declared himself a candidate. If delegates favorably to either man should defeat the Nixon and Kennedy candidates, political analysts will have something to talk about.

4. There has been no organized effort to establish a write-in for Rockefeller in the Republican "beauty contest" section of the ballot. Since he did not enter the race, his name is not printed there. Nevertheless, New Hampshire observers report that strong sentiment exists for him in several communities and said it would be reflected in several thousand write-in votes.

5. Kennedy's opposition in the Democratic primary is Paul C. Fisher, Chicago Manufacturer. Fisher has campaigned hard and reported expenditures only slightly less than those spent for Nixon.

Butler Apologizes For Brazil Plane Crash Remark

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler has apologized for saying President Eisenhower has "something to answer for" to the wives and children of Navy bandmen killed in a plane crash at Rio de Janeiro.

Butler told a news conference Monday he had not meant to imply that the President was "in any way responsible for the tragic deaths of the Americans."

The subject came up in a debate Butler had with Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) Sunday night at Worcester, Mass. Butler questioned the use of part of the Navy Band during Eisenhower's tour of South America. The 19 bandmen killed were en route to Rio to play for the President and Brazilian officials.

Scott jumped up and told Butler "this attempt to put blood on the hands of the President is not very creditable."

Butler retorted: "I don't put blood on the hands of the President. We Democrats never attacked Eisenhower with such cruelty as the Republicans attacked Franklin D. Roosevelt. We never questioned Eisenhower's loyalty."

Apparently thinking better of it the next day, Butler again raised the subject at a news conference called to announce plans for some Democratic party public hearings.

"For any such inference that may have been drawn," he said, "I want to apologize to the President and to the American people."

Big Three Ministers Planning Meeting

LONDON (AP) — Foreign ministers of the Western Big Three and West Germany are reported planning a mid-April meeting in Washington to prepare for the summit talks with the Soviet Union.

Informants Monday night said the American, British, French and West German ministers will meet in an effort to unify their policies on the main topics to be discussed at the parley with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev opening in Paris May 16.

The topics, now being discussed in Washington by working parties from the four Western governments, include:
1. German reunification and the future of West Berlin.
2. East-West relations in general.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brantano will not attend the summit sessions, but their government is an equal partner in the formulation of Western policy.

The Western foreign ministers also will review Western ideas on disarmament, expected to be a major topic of discussion at the summit conference.

An integration suit is pending before U.S. Dist. Judge Ben Conally but he has given no indication when he would hand down a decision.

The sit-ins were in stores near the university on the opposite side of town from where Turner was beaten.

Turner, who has a 3-month-old son, is not a student at the university.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I know you're not a cooking editor but I need help for someone who is NOT an authority. I have a mental block. The problem is psychological. Please don't laugh but — I CAN'T MAKE GELATIN DESERT.

Something terrible always happens to my gelatin. It turns out watery or like rubber. The fruit either floats on top and dries out or it sinks to the bottom.

I've followed the instructions carefully but they don't work for me. Whenever I have gelatin in someone's home it's perfect. I've seen my friends turn out beautiful molds with three layers of different colors. It makes me sick. I'm beginning to think I'm a moron. I'm ashamed to ask any more how they do it. They all say: "It's so SIMPLE! The directions are on the package."

Please, Ann, forget about the directions and tell me in your own words. — FLOP.

Dear Flop: Now I know how my readers feel when they say: I was so glad to read that problem in your column. It helps to know that someone else is having it, too."

Bless you for writing. My gelatin isn't so hot either. I just asked the food editor how to make it and she said: "It's SIMPLE. The directions are on the package."

If you readers have any suggestions please send them on and I'll print them. Thanks from us both.

Social Climber

Dear Ann: Our son is going to marry a lovely girl in May. Everything was fine till we discovered the girl's parents are planning a simple church wedding and a reception at home.

Please don't misunderstand. We aren't snobs but we do have social status in town. My husband is a professional man.

When we discussed this with our son he shrugged his shoulders and said: "That's all they can afford and it's okay with me."

We went to the girl's parents and offered to pay for a beautiful reception at a hotel. They refused politely and changed the subject.

We're in a very embarrassing position, Ann. We owe many social obligations and we can't invite our class of friends to a crackerbox of a house for a glass of punch. They'd laugh at us. Don't you think the girl's parents should swallow their false pride for our sake?—HUMILIATED.

Dear Humiliated: YOU have the false pride. The girl's parents have dignity and character and refuse to be bought off. Hooray for them!

Give a party on your own to repay social debts and don't press further. You've already made yourselves look like opportunistic social climbers.

Other Side of Story

Dear Ann: You claim to be fair. Well, I dare you to print this side of the story.

The letter from the paper boy was fine. I don't blame kids for getting mad when they have to come back to collect three times. But my problem is different. My paper boy hasn't been here to collect for three weeks.

When he first started to deliver, with 11 members and two visitors present.

Terry Owen presided. Betsy Sue Brantingham acted as secretary. Aneta Gary conducted devotionals. Mrs. Thomas Riley gave a missionary story. Rebecca Irey was received into membership.

The April meeting will be at the Friends Meeting House. Each boy and girl is to bring two colored eggs for an egg hunt. Rollcall will be answered by "What Easter Means to Me". The April meeting will be election of officers. Refreshments were served by Mrs. John Rudebeck and Mrs. Ruby Geary.

Mr. and Mrs. John Frey of Cleveland, Mrs. Sadie Martin, Miss Pearl McLaughlin and Mrs. Icie Hendershott were Sunday dinner guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Larkin Hadley.

On Saturday the M.Y.F. will hold a progressive dinner.

King's Messengers Quartet from Malone College will be at the Friends Church for both morning and evening services next Sunday, March 13.

DiSalle Commutes Canton Man's Term

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Clemency action today by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle made Earl Snide, 41, Stark County slayer, eligible for parole from Ohio Penitentiary where he is serving a life term.

DiSalle commuted Snide's first-degree murder sentence to second-degree at the recommendation of the Pardon and Parole Commission.

Snide fatally shot Mrs. Florence Hartman, 22-year-old divorcee, in Canton when she threatened to end their love affair. He was 19 at the time of the shooting June 22, 1938. Arrested after a futile attempt to kill himself, Snide was convicted with recommendation of mercy and entered prison Oct. 18, 1938.

If released, he plans to live with a sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Comber of Magnolia or his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Comber of Canton.

KILLED IN 2-CAR CRASH
LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—A Cincinnati driver, Robert William Schuermann, 47, was killed Monday when his car collided with another auto 10 miles north of here at the intersection of Ohio 37 and 256.

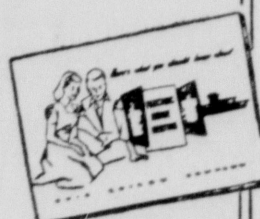

Replacing their old style heating plant with electric heat, the Hamers found many advantages, especially cleanliness. "Its quietness, the even flow of heat and no drafts appeal to us also," says Mrs. Hamer.

Because electricity makes no soot, dirt or dust, because there are no moving parts, no blowers, no ducts, pipes or vents in the Hamer home now, electric heat is actually as clean, silent and carefree as electric light.

Whether you plan to build or remodel, investigate the extra advantages of automatic electric heating... the only completely new way to heat since time began.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

Study Debunks Rigid Diets

I've never been much of an advocate of rigid diets.

Except under unusual conditions, few patients stick to a strict routine for very long. Those who must eat even a single meal away from home soon lapse from grace.

And you can hardly expect the busy housewife to add to her many chores the necessity for choosing and preparing a separate menu three times daily seven days a week for any one member of the household unless it's truly a matter of life and death.

IT HAS ALWAYS seemed to me too, that those who recommend rigid diets with the greatest enthusiasm often operate under a very serious misconception.

They seem to think that the human body functions like a food locker. You put beef in and you get beef out. You put ice cream in and you take ice cream out. You put pie in and you take pie out.

Nothing could be further from the truth.

FOR EVERY MORSEL of food you put in your mouth is broken down by the digestive processes to its very basic elements. These elements are then absorbed into the blood and carried to the various organs and tissues of the body where they're rebuilt into whatever is especially needed at the particular moment.

Then, too, there is the obvious fact that bodily requirements change. And as they change, the cellular factories are able to shift their outputs to fulfill new requirements.

That's why each of us, every once in a while, gets a craving for sweets, for example, and goes on a candy jag. Or develops a steak hunger. Or looks through a long menu and picks some one dish for no explainable reason.

MANY RECENT studies, carefully controlled by competent observers, have cast doubt on the accomplishments of the rigid diet. Youngsters, given free choice of food trays, instinctively selected reasonably well-balanced diets.

Ulcer patients, permitted to eat what and when they chose, got quicker relief from pain and showed faster healing than those who followed the conventional routine of feedings of milk and cream mixtures at stated intervals.

Hypertensives, on a mixed low calory diet to effect weight reduction, progressed quite as favorably as those on the much publicized "rice diet."

BUT IT REMAINED for Peggy Crooke Fry of the University of Nebraska, reporting in the Journal of the American Dietetic Association, to deliver the heaviest blow against formulated diets.

By the simple device of keep ing a diary record of the food and drink consumed by 144 girl students of nutrition, Dr. Fry found that the recommended dietary allowances of the Food and Nutrition Board were rarely honored.

The level of protein intake was below the standard level in 44 per cent of the women; the calcium intake in 84 per cent; the iron intake in 83 per cent; the vitamin A intake in 25 per cent; the vitamin C intake in 31 per cent; and the vitamin B intake in 58 per cent!

I guess we doctors aren't the only ones who don't always practice what we preach!

Mrs. Maynard Brantingham was hostess and Mrs. Stanley Owen co-hostess to the Lydia Missionary Auxiliary of the Friends Church. Mrs. Owen presided.

Mrs. Lowell Ewing and Mrs. Lloyd Wank read the scripture. The ladies sewed puppets for the children at the two hospitals. Numbers on the program were presented by Mrs. Clyde Hendershott, Mrs. Earl Ruble, Mrs. Ray Camp and Mrs. Ruby Geary.

Mrs. Earl Ruble was appointed a delegate to attend the Quarterly Meeting Women's Missionary Retreat at Alliance March 29. Mrs. Stanley Owen was assisted in the serving by Mrs. Brantingham and her daughter, Betsy Sue.

Ministry and Oversight of the Friends Church met at the parsonage for the purpose of arranging a few extra services at Easter time.

John Hendershott, who is now making his home with his mother, Mrs. Icie Hendershott, went to Adena Saturday.

Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Hamerton and children of East Palestine visited in the James Rhodes Sr. home.

Mrs. John Jones has returned home after some time in the Salem Clinic.

144 Of 993 Ohio High School Squads Remain In Play

80 Still Survive In Class AA

Three In AP Poll's Top Ten Eliminated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Only 144 of Ohio's 993 high school basketball teams are still alive as the scholastic quintets go into district tournament play on a far flung front.

Among the 80 Class AA survivors of a starting field of 432 are nine teams which have split up 19 state championships. The 64 Class A survivors of the huge 561-team inaugural field boast seven former state kings.

With only about one-seventh of the starters still on hand, the opinions of sports editors expressed in the final Associated Press poll two weeks ago are holding up well.

Of the Top 10 in Class AA, only three have been eliminated—sixth-place Salem, last year's runner-up for the title; ninth-place Toledo Woodward, and tenth-place Youngstown East.

The Class A Top 10 has lost only two, fifth-place Carthage-Troy and tenth-place Stanton Local. With each division due to be whittled down to 16 teams by Saturday night, more and more of the hotshots must step aside.

Dayton Roosevelt, rated first in the Class AA poll, and fourth-rated Xenia Central—both former champions and both unbeaten with 200 records—are in the four-team Dayton District meet from which only one can emerge.

Canton Timken, third ranked, and Archbold, 11th, are the only other unbeaten AA teams. Archbold with 19 and Timken with 20 in a row.

Former champions still in the wide open race are:

Class AA: Cleveland East Tech, 1958; 1959: Middletown, 1944-46; 47-52; 53-56 and 1957; Columbus East, 1951; Springfield, 1925 and 1980; Newark, 1936, 1938 and 1943; Xenia Central, 1942; Martins Ferry, 1941; Dayton Roosevelt, 1934; and Portsmouth, 1931.

Class A: Northwestern (Wayne) 1958; Ayersville, 1957; Arcanum, 1956; New Lexington St. Aloysius, 1954; Glenford, 1941; Castalia Margaretta, 1932, and Akron St. Mary, 1929.

Unbeaten in Class A are top-ranked Northwestern, second-rated New Boston and fourth-ranked Ayersville with 23-0; seventh-ranked Granville with 22-0, and third-place Salem Local of Urbana with 21-0.

Sports Glances

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

It's easy to understand why Youngstown tournament officials were disappointed when Salem Coach John Cabas chose a bye in the first round of the sectional tourney.

The Quakers have the most loyal fans in the district and possibly in the state. Until Salem made its first appearance in the tourney, attendance was lagging badly at South Field House.

On only one of four previous playing dates did the crowd top a thousand. That was on a Saturday night when 1,027 persons paid their way to see a triple header involving Champion, Leavittsburg, Girard, Warren, Howland and Youngstown Rayen.

The previous night fewer than 900 fans saw Niles upset Youngstown East and Newton Falls topple Austintown Fitch.

LAST FRIDAY when Salem beat Champion and Warren trimmed Howland, 2,200 fans were in the stands. Of that total, 904 purchased their tickets in Salem.

On Saturday night 3,562 jammed their way into the Field House to see Newton Falls play Niles and Salem meet Warren in the finals. For this game, 1,108 fans bought their tickets in Salem.

Just how many Salem people purchased their tickets in Youngstown is not known, but certainly there were some.

The District tournament at Youngstown not only lost a fine ball club Saturday night, but it also may have lost a few dollars, too.

Athletic Director Fred Cope and the two downtown outlets, Fisher's News Agency and Heddleston's Pharmacy, are to be commended for taking the trouble to make tickets available to fans here in town. This is a convenience not provided by most schools.

WITH ALL the difficulties the Quakers had in the rebounding department this season, many people are just beginning to realize how valuable a man Lou Slaby was to the Salem team last year.

When Big Lou got his hands on the ball, which was often, nobody took it away from him. No one was able to fill his shoes this season.

Dave Hunter might well have been the finest high school cager in the state and Dan Krichbaum the most valuable player on the team, but at 5-11 and 5-10, respectively, it's asking quite a bit to expect them to rebound with the Brugler's, Snowden's, Payne's, etc. Still, this pair pulled down nine of their team's 26 rebounds against Warren.

THE TEAM'S philosophy that "we always win the close ones" probably played a part in Salem's decision to slow down its offense against Warren.

Coach Cabas remarked early in the season that his boys were confident that if they could keep the game close they would win. By holding the ball outside the Quakers believed they could pull the defense out and break a man open under the basket.

In the four games which were decided by one goal or less this year, Salem won one and lost three.

City All-Star Tilt Wednesday

Awards Ceremony Set Before Game

The annual All Star basketball game between the city's Class A League champions and a picked team from the rest of the loop will be played at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Memorial Building gym.

Prior to the game trophies will be awarded to league champion Herron Transfer and runner-up S & B Greenhouses. Also receiving awards in pre-game ceremonies will be the 10 members of the All-League team, recently selected by Building officials.

The winner of the annual "Most Valuable Player" award will also be announced.

MEMBERS of the All-Star squad which will take on Herron's include Jerry Hendricks, Dave Hiner and Bill Davidson of S & B Greenhouses; Chuck Greiner and Red Stanley of Farmers Bank.

Gene Kitzmiller and Bob Adams of Industrial Mining; Carson McNeely and Vaughn Harshman of Salem Stamping; Lee Barnes of Mesmer Coal; Jack Brudery of Shaffer Ford, and Dick Beall of Foreman's.

Herron's has bolstered its team by picking up John Sturgeon and Bob Stallsmith, both of whom performed for Meissner's Sohio this season.

Regular members of the champion Trunkers are Harry Baird, Bob Theiss, Dean Nicholson, John Stephenson, Ed Bozich and George Ramsey.

THE ALL-STAR team will be coached by Donald DeJone who will be assisted by Gordon Arndt.

All 10 members of the All-League team will be participating in the game tomorrow night. Five of them, Theiss, Baird, Nicholson, Stallsmith and Sturgeon will be playing with the champions.

The other five, Hendricks, Greiner, Barnes, Kitzmiller and Adams will all be with the All Stars.

Appears In 'The Story of Ruth'

Washingtonville Couple's Granddaughter Has Film Role

Nine-year-old Chrystine Jordan, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Jordan of Washingtonville, makes her film debut as the child, "Ruth," in the 20th Century-Fox production of "The Story of Ruth," in which Elana Eden makes her film debut in the starring role of the grown-up "Ruth."

Chrystine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Leon Jordan of Granada Hills, Calif. Born in Seattle, Wash., the dark-eyed, brown-haired youngster, is in the fourth grade at the DeLaSalle School, a Catholic school in Granada Hills, where Chrystine is a good pupil and enjoys her studies, including religious and social subjects, reading, writing, arithmetic, spelling and English.

In addition, Chrystine takes ballet lessons.

Neither Chrystine nor her parents ever thought of turning the child into a professional. Chrystine's advent as an actress came about accidentally. A friend of her mother's was going to an agent's office with her youngster, and asked the Jordans along for the drive.

One look at Chrystine, who accompanied them, and the agent promptly signed her to make her television debut (last May) for a commercial. Since then Chrystine has done other commercials, but her actual acting debut as well as motion picture bow is in "The Story of Ruth."

Offscreen, Chrystine, who has a seven-year-old sister, Allison, is a normal child who collects sea shells, dolls and recordings, loves to ride horseback and enjoys ice skating.

FIRST MOVIE ROLE — Nine-year-old Chrystine Jordan and Elana Eden, above, make their screen bows in "The Story of Ruth," a biblical film. The child is the granddaughter of a Washingtonville couple.

Common Pleas Court Backlog Increases

Columbiana County's two common pleas courts received 65 new cases and disposed of 62 during February, according to Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey.

The courts had 684 cases pending Feb. 1, and 687 on March 1. Twenty-two cases were tried by the judge and 10 by jury. Ten were cognovit and default judgments, and 20 were settled and dismissed.

The court of appeals gained one new case and had five cases pending as of March 1. Two drivers lost their driver's licenses in traffic point system cases.

County Courts Collect $7,365 In February

Columbiana County's three county courts took in $7,365.63 in fines and costs in criminal and civil cases in February, according to reports sent by the county judges to Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey at the Courthouse in Lisbon.

The Eastern District Court at East Palestine, with County Judge Earl Spaulding presiding, was high, with $1,422.10 collected in criminal cases and $1,678.47 in civil cases. He handled 56 criminal cases and 53 civil cases.

ASKS BRIDGE REPLACEMENTS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says bridges requiring reduced weight loads or one-way traffic "are not only inconvenient and a hazard to the motorist, but also constitute a restriction on commerce." He asked Highway Director Everett S. Preston to concentrate on efforts to replace such bridges with adequate structures.

If you're going to buy a low price car...be sure you get the better one!

Many people figure that since the car they are considering has historically had a "low-price" name it must be, in fact, a low-price car.

This, at one time, was true. But today the names of cars, as you may know, have very little to do with their prices. Many cars with traditional low-price names cost more than Mercury—a name you have always associated with higher price cars. Our point is this:

A Mercury Monterey, with deluxe appointments, is now priced $31 to $66 less than any of the best selling Fords, Chevrolets, and Plymouths (the V-8 powered Galaxies, Impalas, and Furies). Yet Mercury offers you far more of everything you want in a car.

*Based on comparison of manufacturers' suggested 1960 retail base prices for lowest-priced V-8 powered models.

Some new-car buyers are skeptical when we tell them this price story. Here are some of the questions they ask—and our answers:

Q. "Do you mean Mercury is now a low-price car? Did you reduce prices?"

A. "Yes. Monterey prices are now $174 lower, and include many extras that are now standard equipment."

Q. "But in your price comparison, aren't you talking about a 'stripped' Mercury—with rubber mats, plain interiors, no equipment, no glamour?"

A. "No, we're talking about a deluxe-appointed Monterey with beautiful nylon interior and deep, thick carpeting. The comparison is fair."

Q. "Do all Monterey models have as good a price story?"

A. "Yes, within a few dollars. It's the most amazing value story ever offered. Just read below."

MERCURY ADDS UP TO A BETTER LOW-PRICE CAR—Mercury has a 7 to 8 inch longer wheelbase than Galaxie, Impala, and Fury + 289 to 494 pounds more weight + up to 23% more insulation + more spacious passenger compartment + self-adjusting brakes + up to 28% more visibility + more luxurious interior + finer quality (every Mercury is road-tested before it is shipped, not just spot-checked as all other low-price cars) = Smoother ride, extra satisfaction.
